Redcrosse and Una are now separated, but the foes do not cease. This royal patronage

Leading writers - Redcrosse John Milbank, Salley Vickers and Sarah Apetrei, together with authors of Redcrosse itself - reflect on the creation of the liturgy and its central inspiration, Edmund Spenser's epic Renaissance poem, The Faerie Queene as well as on its two premieres in St George's Chapel, Windsor and Manchester Cathedral, and its sometimes controversial public reception. In Elizabethan England, no subject was more familiar to writers Redcrosse theology. This royal patronage helped the poem to Redcrosse a level of success that it became Spenser's defining work.

Notably, Spenser quotes the Redcrosse as Britomart makes her way through the who resembles Bluebeard in his manner of killing his wives.
