To prove her thesis, Weston unites folkloric and Christian elements by using printed texts to prove the parallels existing between each and every feature of the legend of the Holy Grail and the recorded symbolism of the ancient mystery cults. Two damaged souls find passion and peril in a modern marriage of convenience. I shall be seeking refund. With a simple language, not scholarly or boring, Ms Weston explains her theory of the Pagan origins of the Grail legend- a theory fully embraced by many these days- and builds it in a very logical and From Ritual to Romance way. A narrative about "sacrifice and denial", it was modelled on the story of the Thousand-year Rose, which grows on a wall at Hildesheim Cathedral.

Mystery tradition not Celtic Folk-tale. Myths and Legends of the Middle Ages tale of Adonis. One of her first printed works was a lengthy sentimental verse called The Rose-Tree of Hildesheim.
